

ONE JOHN'S FRIEND HANDED TEN DAYS

W. F. Taylor Didn't Seek Wills of Hanover, But Some Booze Shop Again.

When W. F. Taylor, of Hanover county, waddled out of the cage yesterday morning and saw the One John sitting on the high seat a look of inexpressible remorse flitted across the countenance of the said Taylor. Friday morning he had walked from the same cage and had spoken to the inmates of justice, and immediately departed with up statement that he was going back to his tobacco in Hanover. He never saw Hanover, but to some booze establishment he hid himself and drank until he knew no more. Hence his appearance yesterday morning.

"Howdy, Walter," greeted the One John. "Don't feel well," answered Walter, his face showing the effects of his drinking.

"Going to soak you this morning, Walter. I led to me yesterday about going home and then went off and got drunk. Shamed of you, Walter. Got to hand you ten days. By that time you can go home," said the One John.

"But—"

"Nothing doing, Walter. It's back to the cage with you."

"My—"

"It will keep, Walter. Back to the cage with you," and Walter stepped back. But it is dollars to doughnuts he won't remain in the jail for the ten days.

Arthur Butler, a young white man, who is charged with highway robbery and with feloniously assaulting Joseph Bradley, had his case continued until the 25th. His victim is said to be in a serious condition.

Henry Scott, a bullet-headed negro from the Ward, with a hatchet that was a mixture of the tomahawk and the small axe, chopped into the cranium of Rebecca Martin. When Dr. Witten arrived, there were ten holes in Rebecca's head and her left ear was almost severed. Henry will tell the grand jury why he acted thusly towards Rebecca.

"I never intend to let another Jones escape," said the One John, when W. A. Jones ambled up.

"But," continued the One John, "I was say that you are the best of the lot. That's not handing you—" great bouquet either," finished the man behind the counter.

"Judge, if I come here within twelve months again, you may give me a twelve months' sentence," shot in edgewise the Jones present.

"It's a go," quoth the justice, and Jones departed.

Thomas Mosby was drunk and he thought it was discrimination because he didn't get more than ten days.

Charles Hill said he showed the other negro because the other negro was from "Nort' Karline." Charles didn't have the 25th.

DEMOCRATIC SENATE AND HOUSE NOMINEES

MR. F. B. ROBERTS,
Nominee for Senate, Twenty-fifth District.

MR. S. H. WILSON,
House, Pittsylvania.

Mr. Frank Boyd Roberts, of Chase City, will represent the Twenty-fifth District, composed of the counties of Mecklenburg and Brunswick, in the new Senate, succeeding Hon. J. N. Hutcheson, who did not stand for re-election.

Mr. Roberts is a prominent and well-to-do business man, and is interested in a number of enterprises in the thriving town of Chase City.

Mr. Roberts is a man of wide-spread popularity in both Mecklenburg and Brunswick, and his fine business capacity and various connections make him at once widely acquainted among his prospective constituents. There were several candidates for the nomination in the primary, but Mr. Roberts captured the honor with comparative ease.

Mr. Roberts will be in the class known as business senators, and will no doubt make his influence keenly felt in the body.

One of the three House members from the district composed of the county of Pittsylvania and the city of Danville will be Mr. Samuel Halston Wilson, of Byrdville, who has been nominated for a seat in the body by the Democratic party.

Mr. Wilson comes of a fine old Virginia family, which has been prominent in his section for many years, and he is a prominent farmer and stock raiser. He won the nomination in the primary over strong competitors, and will be easily elected.

Mr. Wilson is a man of considerable means and is influential in the affairs of his county. He was given fine educational advantages by his father, and is fully able to take care of himself in any company.

He will very likely look especially after agricultural legislation, as he comes from a farming constituency, and is himself largely interested in this line.
